

Human Experimentation, 1715-1972 Workshop

Friday, October 23, 2009, 8:30am – 4:00pm

Theatre Room 129

Diefenbaker Centre, University of Saskatchewan

Hosted by: Larry Stewart and Erika Dyck, Department of History

Speakers

Anita Guerrini, Oregon State University

The Hermaphrodite of Charing Cross: Human Exhibition in 1715

Paola Bertucci, Yale University

Shocking Bodies: Electricity and Pornography in the Eighteenth Century

Joan Steigerwald, York University

The Subject as Instrument: Galvanic Experiments, Organic Apparatus and Problems of Calibration

Paul Lombardo, Georgia State University

The Other Tuskegee Study: Eugenic Anthropometry at the Tuskegee Institute, 1932-1944

Paul Weindling, Oxford Brookes University

'Countless Victims': Identifying the Victims of Nazi Human experiments project

Erika Dyck, University of Saskatchewan

Prairie Population Control: Eugenic Experiments in post-war Alberta

Registration is free, but space is limited.

Please RSVP to Marc MacDonald

jmm328@mail.usask.ca

Lunch and snacks will be provided.

Part of the Situating Science Series: www.situsci.ca